Québec Gatineau Railway
Chemins de fer Québec-Gatineau (QGRY)

The Quebec Gatineau Railway provides rail transportation services to the major industrial regions and ports in the Province of Québec. It is situated on the north shore of the Saint Lawrence and Ottawa rivers, an area comprising Québec City, Trois-Rivières, Shawinigan, Joliette, Montréal, St-Jérôme, Lachute, Gatineau and Laval.

QGRY began operating in November 1997. It handles some 40,000 carloads of freight per year. QGRY also has an automobile compound, a large lumber transfer facility and a bulk handling facility in Québec City to meet the market demand and benefit from available opportunities.
